

Don't relax the ownership regulations. It's a disgrace to see how this is being handled by the FCC. How can you live with yourselves and look in the mirror when you pull off secret deals with big media conglomerates, while discouraging and cutting off public debate. What's the big hurry? Or are you afraid of what the public will think once they find what you're doing? Shame, FCC, shame on you.